SAXONS resulted in all kinds of funny angles as they entertained at a barn dance.

Live music from Saxon Drain helped more than 60 people master intricate dance patterns within circle, square or long sets for barn dancing.

And, at half-time, all the happy dancers were able to get some energy back by tucking into a fish and chip supper.

The fun was organised by the two Parish Churches of Finchampstead and California and took place on Saturday,

February 9 at California's Ratepayers Hall.

The annual barn dance is a popular feature in the Parish's social calendar, and Saxon Drain have been providing music at event over a number of years.
