

9 January 2014

Traditional start to society festive season

The St James Church choir lead the singing at the Christmas Carol Concert in the Memorial Hall in Finchampstead. BK20139331.
Pictures by Steve Smyth.

TRADITIONAL carols were performed at The Finchampstead Society's sing-along concert.

Finchampstead Memorial Hall, in The Village, was packed out with 70 to 75 people last month.

Guests enjoyed mulled wine and mince pies to get them into the festive spirit as St James' Choir and around 10 members of the junior choir performed.

Mohan Banerji, the society's events coordinator, said: "It was a very good evening."

Donations from the night, which are still being calculated, will go to Thames Valley & Chiltern Air Ambulance Trust.

The audience joins in the singing at the carol concert